
Expanding Airport Capacity in Large Urban Areas

Roundtable Report

Table of contents

Executive Summary by David Thompson, Stephen Perkins and Kurt Van Dender	7
1. Introduction	7
2. Estimating future demand for airport capacity	16
3. Hub economies	17
4. Measuring and valuing connectivity.....	19
5. Comparing the positive and negative impacts of airport expansion.....	22
6. Environmental constraints and environmental assessment.....	24
7. An approach toward developing, phasing and co-ordinating airport expansion	28
Notes	42
Bibliography	42
Chapter 1 Upgrading to world class: the future of the New York region’s airports by Jeffrey M Zupan.....	45
1. Introduction	46
2. Summary of 2011 RPA report.....	46
3. Developments since.....	50
4. Other potentially significant developments.....	52
Appendix	57
Notes.....	60
Chapter 2 Air capacity for Sydney by Peter Forsyth	61
1. Introduction	62
2. Background.....	63
3. Location, hubbing, connectivity and competition	67
4. Rationing excess demand	70
5. Evaluation of the options.....	76
6. Externalities	79
7. Conclusions: why Sydney Airport is not a disaster	81
Notes	82
Bibliography	82
Chapter 3 Evolution of metropolitan airports in japan: airport development in Tokyo and Osaka by Katsuhiko Yamaguchi.....	85
1. Introduction	86
2. Overview of Japan and the air transport market.....	86
3. A brief history of airport development in Tokyo and Osaka	89

4. Key factors affecting airport development in large urban areas.....	97
5. Implications for future airport development in large urban areas	101
6. Concluding remarks.....	104
Notes.....	104
Chapter 4 Expanding airport capacity under constraints in large urban areas: the German experience
by Hans-Martin Niemeier.....	107
1. Introduction	108
2. Investment of German airports – overview	109
3. Case studies of capacity expansion at six German airports	112
4. Key problems of airport investment	118
5. Assessment of decisions on capacity expansion of airports	121
6. Strengths and weaknesses of the german decision process	124
7. Summary and concluding recommendations	131
Notes.....	134
Bibliography	136
Chapter 5 Airport capacity expansion strategies in the era of airline multi-hub networks
by Guillaume Burghouwt	143
1. Introduction	144
2. Hubs, network service airlines and their value for society	144
3. Specialisation patterns in multi-hub airline networks: some empirical evidence.....	153
4. Multi-hub network services and the implications for airport capacity expansion strategy	159
Notes.....	161
Bibliography	163